

Legacy Campaign Update

The Pinewoods Camp Legacy Campaign celebrated a successful conclusion this summer with the unveiling of the Donor Plaque in the Camphouse during the July 4th weekend. This beautiful wooden plaque lists the names of all the individuals and organizations that contributed to the Legacy Campaign. During the weekend, donors were pleased to find their names attractively displayed in a manner that fit so well with the Pinewoods aesthetic. PCI's Past President, Jim Childress, initiated the Campaign some nine years ago with a far-reaching and timely vision for the future of Camp, and he was there to receive a grateful ovation from all those present. Current President Ruth Reiner offered thanks to PCI's Board members and to the Legacy Campaign committee for their work in soliciting contributions, as well as to the many, many campers who participated in the Campaign. Marty Stock spent many hours typesetting the donor names and then printed them on a beautiful watermark background picture of camp. The success of the Legacy Campaign is a tribute to all those who love Pinewoods Camp and who work so tirelessly to preserve its magic. ♦

Work Weekends

Once again Pinewoods is indebted to the following folks who gave so generously of their time to help open and close camp for the 2008 season. Because of their efforts, we were able to get the jobs done that made camp run smoothly all summer long. Some of those jobs can get pretty interesting. The folks listed below are very special to us, and when they come to camp they have a unique appreciation of all those little details, as well as pride in knowing they made a big difference. We all owe them our appreciation.

For Those GPS Users

If you were among those folks who acquired a GPS this year and used it to navigate to camp, even though you have been coming to camp for years and could probably get here blindfolded, you may have noticed that it was... downright wrong. If you followed your "navigator's" instructions you were led astray, very astray, onto some extremely bumpy roads and private ways. A word to the wise: stick to the tried and true Pinewoods Camp directions given to you in your camper packets. Leave the global positioning services behind, and enjoy Pinewoods where it has always been.

In Memorium

Marianne Taylor died on August 19 at the age of 78 after months of battling cancer. She was a much beloved member of the Pinewoods community. Marianne started teaching international folk dance and Scottish and English country dance in 1953. She taught throughout the U.S. and Canada and in Japan, Australia, and Switzerland. She received her teacher's certification in Scottish country dance from the Royal Scottish Country Dance Society in 1957 and the Royal Scottish Country Dance Scroll of Honour in 2005. For 25 years she was the Artistic Director of the Boston Branch Scottish Country Dance Demonstration Team.

In 1975 Marianne co-founded the Folk Arts Center of New England, serving as its first Vice President. Later she became Program Director, a post she held until 2004. She was a regular program coordinator and dance leader at the Royal Scottish Country Dance, Folk Arts Center and English Scottish sessions at Pinewoods for over 50 years. It is thanks to Marianne that we have Folk Arts Center Weekend and Week Days, as well as English-Scottish Session. There are few dancers at Pinewoods Camp who haven't been touched by her spirit. She will be greatly missed.

Notes from the Director

It was a certainly a memorable season as far as weather was concerned, including hailstorms, a tornado warning, and many gorgeous sun-filled days. It was memorable in other ways too: as you reconnected with old friends, made new ones, learned new tunes and new dances, sang a new song in four part harmony, or appreciated just how much goes into performing as a Morris, sword or rapper team.

We all said goodbye to Ampleforth, and look forward to its reincarnation next fall. You welcomed Gillian Stewart as our new Head Cook and Amelia Mason as our new Grounds Crew Chief. Many of you have known both of them since they were very young campers and particularly appreciated what a terrific job they did in taking care of you in their new roles.

More young adults attended camp then ever before, bringing new energy, and new dancing, to C# and C# Minor. The New Generation Initiative Scholarship program brought 20 young adults to camp whom might otherwise not have been able to attend. They were all enthusiastic participants, and their participation promises to revitalize the dance and song community.

Behind the scenes the crew worked hard, harder than you may realize, to make sure your time here was special each time you visited. As always, you were prolific in sharing your thoughts and concerns in evaluations each week. We read every one, and tried hard to address all the issues you raised. (It can get tricky when ½ of you want more chocolate and the other ½ want less -- but we try.)

We fed you with more fresh vegetables grown on local farms than ever before, and plan to continue to support them and feed you the same next year.

For those of us who are here all summer, it feels a little like a sprint. We hit the ground running and before we know it the summer is over. The weeks raced by, and while we glimpsed joy and wonder in the eyes of campers anew each session, it was already the next by the time we blinked.

And in the blink of an eye it will be summer again. But in the meantime Pinewoods, and I, will be taking a much needed rest so it will be ready to welcome you back again next year. ◆

Annual Appeal

If you haven't already, you will soon be receiving the Pinewoods Camp Annual Appeal letter. Your generosity in the past few years has enabled us to put camp on increasingly secure financial footing. We have been able replace C# Minor when it was damaged, and keep up with necessary improvements and repairs while keeping the feel of camp much the same as many of you experienced it 50 years ago. We take our stewardship of this special place very seriously, as you do. Keeping Pinewoods safe and secure here in the wood, untouched by development and time, requires a community of caretakers. As a part of this community, please support us as generously as you can. ◆

Healthy Eating at Pinewoods

Pinewoods has had a long tradition of preparing fresh baked bread and homemade desserts at all our meals. Over the years our cooks have added recipes that have included even more fresh vegetables, healthy whole grains and tasty ethnic dishes. We don't skimp on the chocolate and give you real maple syrup on your blueberry pancakes. We are even fussy about the type of yogurt and peanut butter we put out on the alternative cart. This summer we expanded our commitment to healthy meals by working in tandem with two local farms. We contacted Bay End Farm and Golden Rule Farm early last spring to discuss what vegetables we would need during the summer, and they did their spring planting accordingly. The harvest in Massachusetts comes a little later than it would in the mid-Atlantic, but when it did arrive we benefited with a bounty of fresh tomatoes, peppers, summer squash, herbs, greens, and more. Our campers enjoyed meals made from the freshest ingredients available locally. Pinewoods is committed to both supporting local farmers and feeding you well. We are also committed to reducing unnecessary waste, and preserving this extraordinary environment for future generations in every way we can. Many campers have dietary restrictions due to allergies and individual medical requirements, and we try to meet those needs when reasonably possible. Our campers have a wide variety of dietary preferences and needs. We can't please everyone, but we feel we do a pretty extraordinary job overall for a summer camp. We hope you look forward to our food as much you look forward to the music and dancing. ◆

A new String Bass at Pinewoods

Pinewoods Camp, Inc. is the grateful recipient of a fine string bass with its own unique history. The bass was donated during the summer by frequent Pinewoods campers David Skidmore and his wife, Sue Flint.

Now, in addition to the pianos that are provided as part of the agreement with user groups, Pinewoods can offer bassists an in-house string bass. As a bass player myself, I know how complicated it can be to make travel plans to camp with a bass in tow. I test drove the instrument during Family Week, 2008, and I am happy to report it is a rattlin' decent instrument!

The bass was originally owned and played by David's father, Willard E. Skidmore. According to David, his father first played it in 1928 as a Kansas high school student taking part in National Youth Orchestra concerts, held in Chicago, Illinois. The bass was on loan from a bass player in the Chicago Symphony Orchestra who had several extra instruments.

Willard Skidmore's family moved to Champagne-Urbana, Illinois the next year and by 1930, he was able to continue playing in the Chicago National Youth Orchestra. Skidmore, Sr. helped to support himself while attending Illinois University by playing bass for various dance bands at small clubs in the area. In 1934, he was finally able to purchase the bass for $140 from the Chicago Symphony bassist. It was during the Great Depression and he had to pay in installments.

During his Junior year of college, Willard Skidmore took time off to travel the Midwest with a 10 to12 piece swing band, traveling usually in two large touring cars with the bass strapped on top of one of the cars. Upon finishing his studies with a PhD. in German Literature, Skidmore started his college teaching career. He continued to play the bass as a professional musician, playing both classical and jazz, for his whole teaching career.

After 3 years in the Navy during World War II, Skidmore moved to Albany, New York as a full Professor of German Literature in 1949. He also joined the Albany Symphony Orchestra, and played bass in a swing quartet in the Albany area.

David Skidmore writes: "Dad played the bass during his whole teaching career and continued to play professionally after he retired from teaching. Finally, it got to be too much stress for his hands, though, and he passed the bass on to me since I could at least get some occasional use out of it. He also is very pleased that the bass has found an appreciative home. May all the full-time and part-time bass players who come through Pinewoods Camp enjoy their time playing what Dad and I found to be a very satisfying, responsive instrument."

Currently, the bass has a unique metal tripod bridge, necessitated by damage to the instrument many years ago. Apparently due to a slight angle alteration in the face, the standard wooden bridges had a tendency to warp. I am consulting and researching with bass repair shops in the Boston area to see if a new wooden bridge can be fitted. Nonetheless, the instrument will be housed in a safe environment for wooden instruments over the winter, and, in preparation for the summer 2009 season, will be refurbished in any way necessary in time to make it ready to help move dancers' feet once again.

The entire PCI board thanks both David Skidmore and Sue Flint for this significant and meaningful gift to the musical life of Pinewoods Camp. ◆
